This is a great day for fans of Gibson.com, as we are proud and extremely happy to roll out the red carpet for our newest contributing blogger, the legendary guitarist Rik Emmett (who recently ranked #7 on Gibson.com's Readers Poll for the Greatest Guitarist of All Time.)

Fans of Rik's, as well as readers of Guitar Player magazine, know that he is not only an outstanding guitarist, but he is also very passionate about sharing his gift with the world. Over the years he has proven to possess a real talent for writing and teaching about all facets of the guitar in an enjoyable and very accessible way. A former long-time columnist and contributor for Guitar Player magazine, Rik is a fountain of information, knowledge and inspiration for all students of the instrument, regardless of experience or expertise.
